

ABOLISHES 'BULL PEN' IN STATE JAIL

Warden Thomas Makes Another Change.

SEARCHING WILL BE PRIVATE

Prisoners on Entering Prison Will be Inspected by Officials Inside of Institution, Thereby Avoiding Gaze of the Public.

Special Columbus Correspondent.

DEPARTURES from established rule and precedent continue at the Ohio penitentiary by order of the new executive head of the big prison, Warden Thomas. The newest change is the abolition of the "Bull Pen." This is the place, just outside the big iron doors of the prison, where all incoming individuals are thoroughly searched before the gates clang behind them. In future the prospective won't undergo this public inspection, for public it is since all visitors are admitted to the "Bull Pen." He will walk right through the gates and afterward in the privacy of the deputy warden's office inside the prison walls he will undergo any searching or inspection that is necessary. The change is declared to be due to the conclusion that nothing was to be gained from the standpoint of the state in causing a prisoner the embarrassment and humiliation that accompanied the public scrutiny that was his before he finally entered upon the serving of his sentence. Persons who hold that a prisoner is entitled to certain consideration even if he has been convicted of crime, say they are pleased with the latest departure and they are marking another score for the new warden on their "humanitarian" record.

Ohio Does Some Discriminating.

When it comes to discrimination against the Japs, California isn't the only state in the Union that can monopolize the attention of the nation. In a quiet, unostentatious way, and even perhaps unintentionally, Ohio has been doing some discrimination on her account. It is just being noticed that in the new hunters' license law, the non-citizen of the United States is left out in the cold. He can't hunt in the state except in the event that he owns farm land and then he can't hunt on his own premises even though he gets the permission of his neighbor. Of course the provision which allows only citizens of the United States to hunt in Ohio applies to any person ineligible to citizenship, this comes dangerously close to discriminating against the Japs alone. Any sensitive Jap could read discrimination into it if he were looking for trouble.

The other Ohio discrimination lies in the provisions of the new liquor license bill. By the terms of this bill licenses to engage in the saloon business can't be granted to a person who "is not a citizen of the United States or who is not of good moral character." This means that after the saloon license system becomes operative in the fall, Japs who may be in the business now will have to quit and no others afterward can enter, no matter how high their standing in the community. As remarked before, there is no intimation that any discrimination against the Japs was intended in either case. It is fairly certain that Mongolians were not thought of in the liquor license bill for the class of persons aimed at therein was that composed of unnaturalized European saloon keepers in the big cities.

Quashes Indictments Against Two.

Just as soon as the supreme court shall be willing to give it consideration, the decision of Judge E. B. Kinkead of the Franklin county common pleas court knocking out the embezzlement indictments against former State Treasurer I. B. Cameron and Cyrus Huling, both ex-presidents of the defunct Columbus Savings & Trust Co., and charged with conversion of the interest on state funds deposited in the bank in question, will be placed before it. It is the general opinion that if the supreme court overrules Judge Kinkead's interpretation of the law, both Messrs. Cameron and Huling can be again indicted and tried since neither has as yet been placed in jeopardy. The state's attorneys were wrothy when the decision of Judge Kinkead was announced. Judge Kinkead is the same who freed former State Bank Superintendent Baxter, who was charged with taking $37,000 of the funds of the defunct Columbus Savings & Trust Co. to pay off a private loan. In the decision the judge reasoned in a manner which attorneys here deem peculiar in the extreme. In substance, his decision was that since the state suffered no actual loss,

Might Have Saved Woman.

Had the neighbors cut down the body of Mrs. Margaret McCoy, wife of a Columbus railroadman, when they found it instead of waiting for the coroner, the woman's life would have been saved. The old fallacious belief that no body of a supposed dead person may be touched until the arrival of the coroner deterred them from acting. The woman committed suicide by hanging on account of nervous troubles. When the coroner arrived he found the body warm and life not yet extinct.

J. H. KAUFFMAN.

Mr. Kauffman of Canton has been appointed chief examiner of inspectors of the state department of accounting.

the cases would not be covered by the embezzlement statutes. The assumption that no actual loss was suffered is based presumably on the contention that if the money had been allowed to remain in the state treasury, no interest would have been available for embezzlement. What the defendants were charged with was embezzling interest on state funds which they surreptitiously placed in bank in accord with an agreement with the banking officials.

It is regarded as a peculiar irony of fate that Henry W. Backus, the former secretary-treasurer of the defunct banking institution, and the man who "confessed" to the facts which resulted in the other indictments and his own, is the only man who must stand trial according to the Kinkead decision. Backus is charged with making false entries on the bank's books.

Ribbons for Soldiers.
Adjutant General Wood has closed a contract for the service ribbons which the Ohio National Guard soldiers who performed flood duty will wear. At least 5,000 of the ribbons will be furnished. They are to be distributed before the soldiers go to camp. The ribbons are maroon with green tips and will be worn on the blouse. The green denotes water and the maroon aid.

Conference of Bank Examiners.

State Bank Superintendent Emory Lattanner has arranged for a conference of all the examiners of his department in Cleveland during the week of June 7 to talk over work of the department. The national government has recently adopted the idea of having its bank examiners meet periodically to exchange ideas, and Superintendent Lattanner intends to put this same kind of a plan into effect in his department. It is believed such meetings will bring about increased efficiency in operation of the department.

Practical Fashions

BOY'S BLOUSE SUIT.

A clever little blouse suit for the small lad is here presented. The blouse closes at the left side, but there are two rows of buttons giving a unique effect that is quite new. The sleeves are plaited at the bottom and the trousers, which are the regulation bloomers, are finished with legbands of elastic.

The pattern (6088) is cut in sizes 4 to 12 years. Age 8 requires 3 3/4 yards of 36 inch material.

To procure this pattern send 10 cents to "Pattern Department," of this paper. Write name and address plainly, and be sure to give size and number of pattern.

Outspoken Intelligence.

A letter addressed "To my dear God in Heaven," written in a child's handwriting, was recently posted in a Russian townlet. As the address was written in German, the Russian post authorities forwarded it to the German frontier post office at Tilsit. The postmaster of the latter place returned it to its place of origin with the following superscription: "To be returned. The addressee is in Heaven, with which Germany has no communication."

Simply Do One's Best.

Everything that happens to us leaves some trace behind it, everything contributes imperceptibly to form us. Yet often it is dangerous to take a strict account of that. For, either we grow proud and negligent or downcast and dispirited; and both are equally injurious in their consequences. The safe plan is, always simply to do the task that lies nearest us.—Goethe.

We Pause for a Reply.

"Colleges are supposed to be institutions of learning, are they not?"
"Of course."

"Then perhaps you can tell me why a football victory ranks much higher than one achieved in a debate."

Time Table to Moon.

A French engineer has undertaken to show that a trip to the moon is scientifically feasible and has prepared a schedule indicating that the trip could be made in 49 hours, 17 minutes and 55 seconds.

DIDN'T KNOW THE SENATOR

Thomas of Colorado Was Barred at Senate Door After His Hair Was Cut.

As Sampson found his strength vanished after Dellah snipped his locks, so Senator Thomas of Colorado found his official identity lost after paying a visit to a barber shop in the capitol. He even was spurned by the senate doorkeepers.

Senator Thomas long has gloried in a waving mane. But when the sizzling heat of an unusually hot spring day settled on Washington it ceased to be a source of gratification or glory.

The senator stood the discomfort as long as he could and then decided to be shorn. An overzealous barber snipped the statesman's locks down to the scalp.

"Back," said a portly doortender when Senator Thomas sought to enter to the floor of the senate. "You can't get in here."

"But I'm Senator Thomas," protested the applicant.

"Nothing doing," retorted the doortender, looking at the supposed intruder's apparently bald head. "You'll find the elevators to the public galleries down the corridor to your right."

The senator was rescued by a colleague, who disclosed his identity to the embarrassed keeper of the door. The barber, at last reports, was said to be in hiding.

HAIR CAME OUT IN BUNCHES

813 E. Second St., Muncie, Ind.—"My little girl had a bad breaking out on the scalp. It was little white lumps. The pimples would break out as large as a common pinhead all over her head. They would break and run yellow matter. She suffered nearly a year with itching and burning. It was sore and itched all the time. The matter that ran from her head was very thick. I did not comb her hair very often, her head was too sore to comb it, and when I did comb, it came out in bunches. Some nights her head itched so bad she could not sleep."

"I tried several different soaps and ointments, also patent medicine, but nothing could I get to stop it. I began using Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment this summer after I sent for the free samples. I used them and they did so much good I bought a cake of Cuticura Soap and some Cuticura Ointment. I washed her head with Cuticura Soap and rubbed the Cuticura Ointment in the scalp every two weeks. A week after I had washed her head three times you could not tell she ever had a breaking out on her head. Cuticura Soap and Ointment also made the hair grow beautifully." (Signed) Mrs. Emma Patterson, Dec. 22, 1911.

Cuticura Soap and Ointment sold throughout the world. Sample of each free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. L, Boston." Adv.

The Lesser of Two Evils.

A gentleman from the north was enjoying the excitement of a bear hunt down in Mississippi. The bear was surrounded in a small cane thicket. The dogs could not get the bear out and the planter who was at the head of the hunt called to one of the negroes:

"Sam, go in there and get the bear out."

The negro hesitated for a moment and then plunged into the cane. A few moments after the negro, the bear and the dogs were rolling upon the ground outside.

After the hunt was over the visitor said to the negro:

"Were you not afraid to go into that thicket with that bear?"

"Cap'n," replied the negro. "It was jest dis way. I nember had met dat bar, but I was pussionally 'quainted wid old boss, and I jes' naturally tuck dat bar."
